The 9th Annual UCSF/UC Davis Thoracic Oncology Conference will be held on Saturday, November 17, 2007. It will be a one-day conference highlighting updates in lung cancer and mesothelioma and will feature national leaders in the field. It will also include an increased number of case presentations this year. The intended audience is practicing physicians and nurses in the areas of internal medicine, oncology, radiation oncology, pulmonology, and surgery in the Bay Area and Northwestern United States. The conference is being offered through the UCSF Office of Continuing Medical Education, an accredited CME provider. The date of this conference is coordinated with National Lung Cancer Awareness Month, which is also in November.

TARGET AUDIENCE
The intended audience is practicing physicians and nurses in the areas of internal medicine, oncology, pulmonology, and surgery.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES
An attendee completing this course should be able to:

- Identify advances in the latest clinical management of patients with lung cancer and mesothelioma.
- Indicate the latest combined modality therapies available for patients with lung cancer.
- State the treatment options and clinical trials available to patients with mesothelioma.
- Distinguish emerging therapies for lung cancer and mesothelioma.
- Discuss how inhibitors of the EGFR pathway can currently be integrated into clinical practice.
- Recognize other molecular-targeted therapies that are being developed in lung cancer, including angiogenesis inhibitors and tyrosine kinase inhibitors.
- Identify and describe current issues in the surgical treatment of NSCLC.
- Assess appropriate cases to refer for interventional radiology procedures (ie stenting, etc).

ACCREDITATION
The University of California, San Francisco School of Medicine (UCSF) is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians. UCSF designates this educational activity for a maximum of 8 credits AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physician should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity. This CME activity meets the requirements under California Assembly Bill 1195, continuing education and cultural and linguistic competency. For the purpose of recertification, the American Nurses Credentialing Center accepts AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™ issued by organizations accredited by the ACCME.
