The UCSF Center for Colitis and Crohn's Disease is dedicated to providing comprehensive care for individuals with Crohn's disease, ulcerative colitis, and related illnesses. As part of this commitment, we are proud to present our thirteenth annual inflammatory bowel disease (IBD) symposium. This course will address advances in the medical and surgical management of Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis including novel therapies and optimizing current medications. Management of special populations including the pregnant patient and those with complications of therapy will be discussed.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND THIS COURSE?
This symposium is designed for gastroenterologists, colorectal surgeons, internists, and allied health professionals who participate in the management of this complicated patient population.

OBJECTIVES
Upon completion of this course, attendees will refine their approach to:

• the level of therapy that is appropriate for the patient with moderate to severe IBD;
• the level of therapy that is appropriate for the postoperative Crohn's patient;
• chromoendoscopy for patients needing cancer surveillance;
• endpoints of therapy for IBD;
• referring fistulizing patients for surgery (either alone or in conjunction with medical therapy);
• recognizing dermatologic complications of IBD;
• medical therapy for the pregnant patient.
